Emory Salamanca Program: Health Care Sciences Track
Fall 2016

This track is designed specifically for students interested in Spanish and pre-med/pre-health!

All courses in this track have been pre-approved. Students may choose 1 or more classes listed below. These courses are taught in Spanish and takes place at Cursos Internacionales de la USAL with other international students:

- SPAN 217: Medical Spanish
  - Click here for course syllabus

- BIOL 470/SOC 389: Spanish Comparative Healthcare Seminar
  - Click here for course syllabus

- SPAN 410: Health Communication
  - Course syllabus TBA

This course is taught in English and takes place at Emory Center (only Emory students):

- ANT 230: Medical Anthropology
  - Click here for course syllabus

During the spring semester, ANT 230 PSYC 385: Psychology of Memory are also offered through the Emory Center.

Program Highlights

- Spanish Language and Culture
- Homestay
- Cultural Excursions to Seville, Granada, Barcelona, and Lisbon

In this program, students of all levels can study and experience immersion in Spanish language! Salamanca, located in west central Spain is just two hours from Madrid. The Universidad de Salamanca, with which Emory collaborates, was founded in the year 1218 and is the oldest and most famous university in the Spanish-speaking world. Its 40,000 Spanish, European and Latin American students make Salamanca a very young city with a wide offering of cultural activities (theater, concerts, art exhibitions, local festivals) and an active social life, which remains centered on its historic Plaza Mayor.

Questions?

Kim Mantia-Ochoa, Advisor
Email: Kim.mantia@emory.edu
Website: www.cipa.emory.edu