

STUDY ABROAD FINANCIAL AID, SCHOLARSHIPS AND GRANTS

General Information on Financial Aid and Scholarships for Study Abroad

Emory Semester Programs: If you enroll in an Emory Semester Program, you can utilize all the same financial aid for which you would qualify on campus. This includes federal financial aid, state financial aid, Emory scholarships and other "outside" scholarships. In addition, CIPA administers the CIPA Study Abroad Grant.

Emory Summer Programs: All Emory College students who qualify are considered by the Office of Financial Aid for a summer aid award after registration in Emory summer study abroad courses. The amount of the award depends on the number of credit hours and current financial aid package. Students currently receiving financial aid from Emory are typically eligible. A limited number of CIPA Summer Study Abroad Travel Grants are also available.

Non-Emory Semester Programs: If you are enrolled in a Non-Emory semester program, you can utilize federal financial aid, state financial aid, and some "outside" scholarships. Emory scholarships do not apply to these programs.

Types of Financial Aid

Grants and Scholarships: Usually provide funding that does not need to be repaid, based on talent, financial need or affiliation. Types of aid include Federal Pell Grant, Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant, Emory University Grants, Georgia Tuition Equalization / HOPE Grant, Georgia Student Incentive Grant, Student Courtesy Scholarship, and outside scholarships (such as government, corporate or community agency funding). Scholarships listed under "Other Resources for Study Abroad" are administered by outside institutions.

Work Study: If you currently have a work study job on campus or off-campus, you may qualify for a replacement grant during your semester abroad. The replacement grant is based on the average of the prior two semesters' earnings and can amount to as much as $1000 for the semester.

Loans: Are available from various sources, including federal and state governments, the University and private lenders. Students must pay back student loans. Types of loans include: Federal Perkins Loans, Federal Subsidized Stafford Loan, Unsubsidized Stafford Loan, Federal PLUS Loans, and Emory University Loans.

Note: Scholarships are readily available. The assumption that they are too competitive or too time consuming is not true. The extra time and effort required to file an application can be very economically rewarding.

CIPA Study Abroad Travel Grant

The need based CIPA Study Abroad Travel Grant encourages Emory College undergraduates to participate in Emory-approved study abroad programs (* one exception).

CIPA has recently restructured the CIPA Study Abroad Travel Grant Application Process. Emory students currently receiving financial aid through Emory's Office of Financial Aid may submit an application for the travel grant. The grant can be used to offset airfare and other travel-related expenses for an Emory-approved semester or summer program abroad. All students are now required to physical turn in a copy of their unofficial transcript to CIPA as a Material Submission.

Info: CIPA Study Abroad Travel Grant

Eligibility: is specific to each track. See details on application form.

Deadline: Students must submit the CIPA Study Abroad Grant Application by the following deadline:

For Spring: October 1

For Fall/Year: March 1

Award: The scholarship will provide funding for the lowest available airfare plus $1,500 to $2,500 travel grant.

Bridging Scholarships for Study in Japan

The Association of Teachers of Japanese Bridging Project is accepting applications from American students participating in study-abroad programs in Japan beginning in Fall 2005. Funding from private foundations and major U.S. corporations has made it possible for ATJ to award 100 scholarships annually to assist students with the travel and living expenses they will incur while studying abroad in Japan.

Contributors to the scholarship fund include Boeing Japan, Citigroup, Deloitte Touche Tohmatsu, The Freeman Foundation, Lockheed Martin, Merrill Lynch, Morgan Stanley, PricewaterhouseCoopers and ChuoAoyama Audit Corp., Shinsei Bank, The Starr Foundation, TCS Japan, and Weyerhaeuser.

Undergraduate students majoring in any field of study are eligible to apply for these scholarships. Japanese language study is not a prerequisite. Applicants must be U.S. citizens or permanent residents and be enrolled in a college or university in the United States. (For a list of the most recent recipients of the Bridging Scholarship, scroll down to the bottom of this page.)

Bridging Scholarship recipients receive a stipend of $2,500 (for students on semester-long programs) or $4,000 (for students on academic year programs).

Applications for Bridging Scholarships are accepted twice a year: the next deadline, for students who will be studying in Japan beginning in Fall 2005, will be April 5, 2005. Scholarships for Fall 2005 will be awarded to 60 students.
